HISTORY AND RENOVATION

A STORIED HISTORY

- In April 1926, a group of prominent businessmen, including Fredrick William Kellogg (FWK), envisioned the La Jolla Beach and Yacht Club.
- They acquired 14 acres along what is now La Jolla Shores,
- Founded on July 22, 1927
- On May 23, 1935, FWK and Florence Scripps Kellogg purchased the property and renamed it "The Beach Club at La Jolla, Inc."
- Inspired by his son's love for tennis, FWK added four tennis courts and an Olympic-size pool, renaming it again as the La Jolla Beach & Tennis Club.
- FWK passed away on September 4, 1940, during a trans-Pacific cruise to Japan, just before the opening of the Marine Room.
- His son, William Scripps Kellogg (WSK), took over, completing the Marine Room and adding a nine-hole par-3 golf course.
- In 1973, WSK retired, passing leadership to his son, William Crowe Kellogg, who expanded tennis facilities and led extensive renovations.
- Today, the Club, the Marine Room, and La Jolla Shores Hotel are managed by the fifth generation of Kelloggs.
- William "Bill" J. Kellogg serves as president, maintaining the Club's legacy as a family-owned, independent destination.
